There will not be a meeting in August.

The book for September is THE WATER IS WIDE by Pat Conroy. Pat Conroy's celebrated memoir recounts the famed author's year teaching the impoverished children of tiny Yamacraw Island, off the South Carolina coast. The children were virtually illiterate before Conroy's arrival.

Sunday, July 29, 10 a.m. Asian Art Museum: "Phantoms of Asia: Contemporary Awakens the Past." Bold new art—along with objects from the museum's own renowned collection—explores spirits, spirituality, cosmic order, and the afterlife. This is a provocative interplay of 150 artworks from past and present, including paintings, sculptures, photographs, site-specific creations, and more by artists from all over Asia. We saw a few pieces from this exhibit on the upper floors during the Ceramics tour in May. It is worth a separate visit. Private docent tour. $10 per person for members of the Asian. $20 for non-members.

August: No docent tour is scheduled.
